We take pride in helping designers create food service areas that meet client budgets and deadlines while going beyond their expectations for aesthetics and function.

BSI. A Blueprint for Food Service Design Success

When challenged with designing a food service area of sophistication, innovative flexibility and unparalleled quality, only one manufacturer fits the bill: BSI, LLC.

We can build to satisfy those at the highest-end of the budget spectrum or we can also provide extremely high-quality, attractive systems for those with less extravagant plans. BSI's experts will work with you to ensure that every food service project you tackle will make you proud and your customers thrilled.

We focus on creation not frustration. Our Contoura counter system's pre-engineered standard framework slashes the time normally spent on shop drawings while offering all the benefits of pure custom design. Essentially, if you can envision it, we can provide it in a Contoura system that has precise fit-and-finish, integrated utility chaseways and removable faces that can be easily changed for aesthetic alterations.

Spend your time planning attention-grabbing displays instead of laboring over tedious construction details.

Our commitment to quality is clearly shown in our famous ZGuard line of food shields. The ZGuard system features completely adjustable glass panels that can be set at any height and angle – including horizontal for use as shelves. Gone are the days of welded, non-adjustable "sneeze guards." Food serveries featuring ZGuard shields can be easily accessorized with our equally-innovative line of ZSpace and ZSign merchandising products that give your customers.

Need an alternative to ZGuard, we have dozens of models that will fit any budget and décor. And of course we can create custom guards that are unique to you and your vision. Regardless of which model you chose you'll be assured of the famous customer service and commitment to quality that has made us the industry leader.

BSI's unflinching attention to engineering detail and innovation is proudly on display with our Solera glass ceramic heated merchandisers. Using less wattage per square foot than others on the market, Solera merchandisers are highly efficient, heating only the food, not the surrounding countertops

The bottom line? As a designer of food service areas, you want to present customers with plans for the best-looking and highest-functioning equipment possible. BSI makes it easy. We can build to satisfy those at the highest-end of the budget spectrum or we can also provide extremely high-quality, attractive systems for those with less extravagant plans. BSI's experts will work with you to ensure that every food service project you tackle will make you proud and your customers thrilled.
